

Morninglight

The only sword to have ever been wielded by the Knight of Dawn has since lain untouched upon his tomb in the cellars of Copperhome Monastery. The ages have dulled its edge, but the blade retains an almost pulsing and hypnotic lustre.

Ability: A Flickering Soul

The glow of Morninglight illuminates the unseen foe.

Mistletoe

The only bow to be made from the wood of the Godyew. The rebel war-poet Ismul was the last man to release an arrow from this bow, slaying his lover, the Queen-regent of his homeland. The bow was lost in the ensuing civil war.

Ability: Deific Wood

It is as if arrows fired from this bow have a life of their own.

War-Jester Platemail Cuirass

Intricately patterned and colourfully enamelled. The War-Jesters of Fore were the bulwark of the Forean military. Legends tell that the battles fought by the War-Jesters were alive with the mocking laughs of their self-induced war trances.

Able's Wrap

The robes of the travelling warlock are plain and tattered. Were it not for Able's crazed writings sewn into the inner hems, the garb would be indistinguishable from any commoner's cloak. Able's prose is indecipherable, but you notice the strange characters change each time the garment is opened.

Ability: Unseen Horrors

Adorning this cloak imbues you with a sense of cosmic connectedness.

Elixir of Healing

A thick, crimson syrup sloshes around inside this bottle. It smells faintly of cooked apples and honeysuckle. It tastes of sweet childhood. Every sip feels like a good night's rest.

On Use: Heal 20% of Health

Scroll of Thunder

The words that fill the page crackle and hum with energy, as if ready to burst from the worn parchment.

On Use: Cast Thunder

MARC FRENCH